Fairbanks Makes an Address With a Review

OF REPUBLICAN ACHIEVEMENTS

He Commends the Party in Regard to Its Position on the Tariff, Reciprocity and Currency Questions—A Soul Stirring, Patriotic Speech.

Special Telegram to the NEWS REVIEW.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—4:30 P. M.—Temporary Chairman Fairbanks opened his speech this afternoon with a review of the achievements of the Republican party to date, extolling its policy on the tariff, reciprocity and currency questions, and denouncing the free coinage of silver.

"When the Republican party was in power," he said, "our currency was as good as the best on the globe. We made sound money, and an honest protective tariff to go with it. Sound money and an honest protective tariff go hand in hand, not one before the other. Great and splendid and powerful as our government is, it cannot accomplish the impossible. It cannot create value. It has not the alchemist's subtle art of transmuting unlimited silver into gold, nor can it make 50 cents worth 100 cents. As well undertake by a resolution of congress to suspend the law of gravitation as attempt to compel an unlimited number of 50 cent dollars to circulate with 100 cent dollars at a parity with each other. An attempt to compel unlimited dollars of such unequal value to circulate at parity is bad in morals and vicious in policy. We protest against lowering our standard of commercial honor and against the Democratic attempt to drag our currency to the low level of Mexico, China, India and Japan. The present high standard of our currency, our labor and our flag will be sacredly protected and preserved by the Republican party. The struggle for Cuban liberty enlists the ardent sympathy of the Republican party, a party which has given to liberty its fullest meaning on this continent. We wish to see a new republic born on Cuban soil. Great is the new century, whose dawn is already purpling the east. My friends, the campaign of 1896 is upon us. The great questions for debate in the august forum of the United States are free trade and free silver against a protective tariff and sound money." Fairbanks closed his speech with these words: "A distinguished Republican has said that the supreme desire of the American people is for an honest currency and a chance to earn it by honest toil."

At the close of Fairbanks' speech Chairman Carter announced the subordinate officials of the convention as selected by the national committee. They were elected.

DEMOCRATS MEET.

The Unterrified Hold Their County Convention at Lisbon.

LISBON, June 16.—[Special.]—The unterrified convened at 1 o'clock in the probate court room, with George B. Aten, of Wellsville, as chairman, and Mr. Kirby, of the Salem Herald, as secretary. Each delegate present was requested to present credentials and a permanent organization was formed. A committee of five were appointed to draw up resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, with one exception.

The pith of the resolutions is as follows. Many of the burdens imposed upon tax payers are unnecessary and that the taxes are squandered in many ways. That the salaries of county officials are out of all proportion and ought to be reduced one-half. They appeal to the people, independent of party, to unite with them on a common county ticket, pledged to reform and economy. They condemn P. M. Ashford for a failure and refusal to bring about legislation favorable to taxpayers by reducing taxes, and condemn the imbecile administration of state affairs under ex-Gov. McKinley, and deplore the fact that the state treasury is bankrupt as the result of an extravagant administration. They deplore legislative corruption, as is evidenced by Republican members serving terms in the penitentiary for booting. Cleveland is commended for his stand on the Monroe doctrine, while they view with alarm the repeated onslaughts upon the safety of our republic by the Republican party.

After reading the resolution a motion was made by W. S. Spence to strike out the part referring to and condemning P. M. Ashford, as it was unjust and entirely unbecoming to heap abuse on Ashford alone, when the other representative was in the same boat. Hutcherson's name was then added to the resolution and the question dropped.

The convention was marked by a continuous brawl throughout the session. Deidrick wanted to have things his own way, and so did Potts, and when the question of appointing delegates came up, the two got so warm that it was thought best to throw Deidrick out of the window, and Potts volunteered to do the act. Loud and prolonged hisses caused the two to quit indulging in a further war of words, and quiet was partially restored, although it was impossible to establish anything like serenity.

AN AUTOPSY

Held on the Remains of the Late John Austin.

An autopsy was held on the remains of John Austin, of Smith's Ferry, whose death was noted in these columns yesterday. Doctors Calhoun, Marshall, G. P. Ikert, J. J. Ikert, Andrews, Clark, Hobbs and Norris were present, and it was found that death was caused from cancer of the liver and stomach.

Mr. Austin had been ill for five weeks and steadily sank as the days passed by. He was well known and highly respected in the community, and many are the friends who were sorry to hear of his demise. He was 63 years of age and leaves a wife and two children, Miss Annie Austin, a teacher in the central school, and Reuben, cashier of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh freight depot. Funeral services will be held in the Presbyterian church of Smith's Ferry tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in the Georgetown cemetery.

RECEPTION TO DR. LEE.

The Reception Promises to Be a Pleading Success.

The reception to be given Rev. John Lloyd Lee, Ph. D., at the First Presbyterian church tonight, promises to be a very pleasing success, as the members of his congregation have determined to give him a good send-off, preparatory to his departure for the old world, accompanied by Rev. F. DeWitt Talmage, of Pittsburgh. Reverend Lee will take his departure backed by the good wishes of a host of friends, not only in his own congregation, but throughout the city at large, and one and all wish himself and companion a pleasant voyage, and the ingathering of ripe experience and physical recuperation, with the hope that they will bring back with them a fund of good things to impart to their hearers.

FOR THE FOURTH.

Barbers Set the Time They Will Close Their Shops.

The Barbers' union held a meeting last night and settled what they would do in regard to closing their shops on the Fourth of July. A great deal of dissatisfaction was expressed by the proprietors in regard to the time they closed on Decoration Day. This brought forth much discussion, but it was at last decided, after nearly every person present had made a speech on the subject, to close the shops at 10 o'clock on the evening of the third and 6 o'clock on the Fourth. By this arrangement the barbers will receive only four hour rest, as they work two hours later Friday night and close six hours earlier Saturday.

DECIDED TO GO.

Will Accompany the Regiment to Washington Next March.

At Company E's meeting last night it was decided that, in the event of the Eighth regiment being retained as Major McKinley's escort at the inaugural ceremonies at Washington next March, the local company will go with the regiment. The boys are elated over the prospect of a trip to the nation's capital, and will prepare themselves for the occasion in order that they make a good impression. The boys will probably receive new uniforms before the Washington trip.

Will Ride to Niagara.

Thomas Snape, of Thompson's pottery, and son, Thomas, accompanied by Thomas Chambers, of the East End, will leave for Niagara Falls on their wheels, July 4.

THE LIST OF TEACHERS

Who Will Teach During the Coming Year

HANDED IN BY SUPT. SANOR

And Accepted by the Board of Education. Reports of Various Committees—Two Enumerators to Be Appointed—Teachers Must Read the Bible.

The board of education were not so tardy in convening last night, and that august body opened its weekly session promptly at 8:30. The most important business of the evening was the acceptance of the list of teachers' names for the ensuing fall term, handed in to the board by Superintendent Sanor.

The meeting was called to order by President McGraw, with all members in their accustomed places, with the exception of Mrs. Whitehead, who is summing at Mountain Lake Park, Md. Mrs. Watson led in prayer and the minutes were hastily disposed of. The next half hour was devoted to the reading of communications, of which there were quite a number. A notice from the board of health, calling attention to the wretched sanitary condition of several of the schools, and ordering that the board adopt measures to remedy this state of affairs, was the first one taken up, and upon motion the notice was received.

A communication from Professor G. A. Harper, who wished to teach music in the public schools, and naming his terms, was next read. Mr. Nickle presented the name of William Manley, who is also an applicant for the same position. Both names were placed on file for future reference. The clerk then read a letter from Frank T. Searight, East Pittsburgh, asking that the board look further into the Unionist bill. The matter was placed in the hands of a committee for further consideration.

Thomas Todd wrote to the board, asking that he be considered an applicant for the position of truant officer. His application was received.

The report of the board of examiners came next, and the names of those who had successfully passed the teachers' examination were officially made known to the board. The names were published in this paper some time since. The report also showed that $16 had been collected in fees, and the amount turned over to the teachers' institute fund. The report was received. This wound up the list of communications and the reports of the various committees were called for.

Mr. McClain, who was appointed to investigate the smoke nuisance, stated that he had communicated with Willis Canning, of the adjoining stilt works. He had said that, owing to the uncertainty of the supply of gas, he was obliged to discontinue the use of the latter and resort to coal, and that he could not do anything in the premises. Mr. McClain, continuing, said that, although it was not the intention of the board to discommode Mr. Canning, it was imperative the smoke nuisance should be abated; therefore, he would recommend that the matter be referred to the city council for settlement. It was so ordered.

The following report from Miss Updegraff was then read: Value of books on hand September, 1895, $459.95; books received, 1895-96, $1,383.28; total, $1,843.23; books on hand, May 22, 1896, $577.77; desk books, books to indigent pupils, etc., $104.66; deposited in banks during year, $1,160.80; total, $1,843.23.

Mr. Vodrey, of the light committee, explained that he had talked with the superintendent of the electric light plant, and that the latter had said that the light consumed in the school building was measured through two meters, but when the bill was made out the charge was rated only to the real consumption. Inadvertently the board had been charged up with the amount registered by the two meters. The superintendent, Mr. Vodrey stated, promised to correct the bills and return the discount. The report was received. Mr. Nickle said that if the expense continued he was in favor of cutting off the light entirely. A few suggestions were made that the building be lighted some other way, and the question was then dropped for the evening.

A few remarks followed on the recent bond issue election, and the question of enumerators was taken up. Mr. Stevenson said that no one person could do the work in two weeks time, and he would move that the city be divided into two sections. This motion carried.

Following is a list of the names of applicants for the two positions of enumerators: Thomas Todd, Harry Cochran, Thomas McClure, James Clunk, Robert

D. Vanfossen, John A. Saint, E. F. White, Edna Cook, T. B. Myler, William Beardmore, Isabella McClain and George Grosshans.

Power to appoint enumerators, Mr. Vodrey thought, was vested in the clerk, and after various suggestions as to the proper method of settling the matter, it was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of the clerk and instruct him to appoint as enumerators the first two names that were handed in. The employment of teachers for the coming year was next discussed, and Members Stevenson and McClain were appointed a committee to divide the district. On motion by Vodrey it was decided to pay $50 for the entire work of enumeration.

Superintendent Sanor then submitted the following list of teachers and their assigned places:

Miss Beal, of Trentvale school, the superintendent said, was compelled to resign her position owing to ill health and that there was just one teacher required to fill all positions. Mr. Nickle moved that the names of teachers nominated and assigned to their various positions. This motion prevailed.

Mr. McClain called attention to the fact that the teachers must all read the Bible, and Mr. Sanor said that if a teacher was disloyal to the orders of the board she could not expect to be retained. The superintendent also stated that there were two applicants whose names were not on the list handed in, and that he would recommend that they be engaged. On motion it was decided to employ one of the teachers, and the other vacancy was of fered Miss Andrews, of Sewickley, at a salary of $45 a month. If she would not accept, the superintendent was to notify the other applicant that she would be engaged. The wage question of teachers was mentioned, but not discussed at any length. The board then voted to pay the two election clerks $2 a day, and adjourned.

Superintendent Sanor will leave for his summer vacation tomorrow. He will spend a few days in Homeworth, and thence go to the meeting of the state superintendents, who will hold this year's session at Put-In-Bay. From that place he will go to Buffalo, N. Y., to attend the annual meeting of the national body of school superintendents.

Don't Like Our "Mac."

George P. Rust, of Cleveland, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the bridge. The gentleman, accompanied by his brother, has just returned from Paris, France, the latter person crossing the water to have a delicate surgical operation performed on him. Mr. Rust says that the sentiment against McKinley in Great Britain and France is very pronounced.

To Build Kilns.

D. J. Wallace and son, accompanied by Robert Hill, left for Bradford, Pa., on the noon train today, to erect three brick kilns at that place.

Satisfactorily Adjusted.

The insurance on A. W. King's stock was adjusted satisfactorily to all parties concerned this morning, and this afternoon the work of cleaning up the place was started.

Turned His Pocket.

Ferd Oschmann had a pocketful of matches which in some way became ignited. The young man didn't discover that he was a fire for some little time, but when he did, he made a bee line for a hydrant, and turned the water into his pocket. The fire burned a large hole in the lining of his trousers.

HE ROBBED HIS SISTER

An Ungrateful Brother Skips With Money.

OFFICERS INSTITUTING A SEARCH

All Efforts to Locate the Absconding Brother Have Been Futile—Thought to be in Heaven—Second Time That Mrs. Voegtle Has Been Robbed.

The police are looking for Edward Weisenberger, a German employe of the ice plant, who last Sunday skipped the city, taking with him a large sum of money belonging to his sister, Mrs. Voegtle, who keeps a restaurant on Walnut street. Weisenberger formerly lived in Beaver, and came to this place about seven months since, and during that time has made his home with his sister.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Voegtle went upstairs and remained there some time. Returning to the kitchen, she had occasion to get some change from her pocket book that had been left in a cupboard. When the pocket book was opened it was found that a snug sum of money—something over $50—was missing. Mrs. Voegtle at once suspected that her brother had taken the money, and going in search, succeeded in finding him in the parlor of a saloon.

She demanded that her money be returned, and he replied by telling her to go home and that he would soon follow and bring back the amount. The lady complied and waited in vain for the brother to materialize. Failing to do so, she notified Marshal Johnson, and he and the other officers at once instituted a search for the absconder. So far all efforts to locate him have been futile, and it is thought that the fugitive is in Beaver.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Voegtle was robbed of $65 in cash, and jewelry amounting in value to $75, several months since, by a German who stopped at her house for a few days.

THE RECEPTION.

A Slight Change Made in the Program For Tonight.

At the reception to be tendered Doctor Lee tonight, the program has underwent a slight change. The opening selection will be given by the chorus, instead of choir, with E. K. Macrum as accompanist. Mrs. J. C. Thompson will follow the recitation by Miss Ella Huston with a beautiful vocal solo. With these two exceptions, the program will be carried out in the order published in the NEWS REVIEW of yesterday. The reception will be the finest ever given in the city, and those who fail to attend are missing the treat of a life time. It is free to Presbyterians and their friends.

CAME AND DEPARTED.

A Band of Gypsies Struck the City Yesterday Morning.

A band of strolling Gypsies struck the city yesterday morning and pitched their tents in East End. The lessee of the land appeared and ordered the trespassers to leave, but they declined to do so, and emphasized their refusal with harsh words and abuse. To obtain redress the latter notified Constable Bertele, who hid himself to the spot, but upon arriving found that the wanderers had departed and sought other quarters. When last seen the Gypsies were wending their way toward Wells-ville.

Mullen and Mackillhoney Will Work Out Their Fines.

Thomas Jackson appeared at the city hall this morning and was fined $6.60 for his complicity in the Broadway joint that was raided Saturday night. He paid his fine. Mackillhoney and Mullen are working out their fines on the street. After Haughton was found guilty and fined $7 by Mayor Gilbert yesterday Delaney concluded to plead guilty and was fined $6.60. Both fines were paid.

HANDS IN BY SUPT. SANOR

And Accepted by the Board of Education. Reports of Various Committees—Two Enumerators to Be Appointed—Teachers Must Read the Bible.

The board of education were not so tardily in convening last night, and that august body opened its weekly session promptly at 8:30. The most important business of the evening was the acceptance of the list of teachers' names for the ensuing fall term, handed in to the board by Superintendent Sanor.

The meeting was called to order by President McGraw, with all members in their accustomed places, with the exception of Mrs. Whitehead, who is summing at Mountain Lake Park, Md. Mrs. Watson led in prayer and the minutes were hastily disposed of. The next half hour was devoted to the reading of communications, of which there were quite a number. A notice from the board of health, calling attention to the wretched sanitary condition of several of the schools, and ordering that the board adopt measures to remedy this state of affairs, was the first one taken up, and upon motion the notice was received.

A communication from Professor G. A. Harper, who wished to teach music in the public schools, and naming his terms, was next read. Mr. Nickle presented the name of William Manley, who is also an applicant for the same position. Both names were placed on file for future reference. The clerk then read a letter from Frank T. Searight, East Pittsburgh, asking that the board look further into the Unionist bill. The matter was placed in the hands of a committee for further consideration.

Thomas Todd wrote to the board, asking that he be considered an applicant for the position of truant officer. His application was received.

The report of the board of examiners came next, and the names of those who had successfully passed the teachers' examination were officially made known to the board. The names were published in this paper some time since. The report also showed that $16 had been collected in fees, and the amount turned over to the teachers' institute fund. The report was received. This wound up the list of communications and the reports of the various committees were called for.

Mr. McClain, who was appointed to investigate the smoke nuisance, stated that he had communicated with Willis Cuning, of the adjoining stilt works. He had said that, owing to the uncertainty of the supply of gas, he was obliged to discontinue the use of the latter and resort to coal, and that he could not do anything in the premises. Mr. McClain, continuing, said that, although it was not the intention of the board to discommode Mr. Cuning, it was imperative the smoke nuisance should be abated; therefore, he would recommend that the matter be referred to the city council for settlement. It was so ordered.

The following report from Miss Updegraff was then read: Value of books on hand September, 1895, $459.95; books received, 1895-96, $1,383.28; total, $1,843.23; books on hand, May 22, 1896, $577.77; desk books, books to indigent pupils, etc., $104.66; deposited in banks during year, $1,160.80; total, $1,843.23.

Mr. Vodrey, of the light committee, explained that he had talked with the superintendent of the electric light plant, and that the latter had said that the light consumed in the school building was measured through two meters, but when the bill was made out the charge was rated only to the real consumption. Inadvertently the board had been charged up with the amount registered by the two meters. The superintendent, Mr. Vodrey stated, promised to correct the bills and return the discount. The report was received. Mr. Nickle said that if the expense continued he was in favor of cutting off the light entirely. A few suggestions were made that the building be lighted some other way, and the question was then dropped for the evening.

A few remarks followed on the recent bond issue election, and the question of enumerators was taken up.

Mr. Stevenson said that no one person could do the work in two weeks time, and he would move that the city be divided into two sections. This motion carried.

Following is a list of the names of applicants for the two positions of enumerators: Thomas Todd, Harry Cochran, Thomas McClure, James Clunk, Robert

D. Vanfossen, John A. Saint, E. F. White, Edna Cook, T. B. Myler, William Beardmore, Isabella McClain and George Grosshans.

Power to appoint enumerators, Mr. Vodrey thought, was vested in the clerk, and after various suggestions as to the proper method of settling the matter, it was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of the clerk and instruct him to appoint as enumerators the first two names that were handed in.

The employment of teachers for the coming year was next discussed, and Members Stevenson and McClain were appointed a committee to divide the district. On motion by Vodrey it was decided to pay $50 for the entire work of enumeration.

Superintendent Sanor then submitted the following list of teachers and their assigned places:

Miss Beal, of Trentvale school, the superintendent said, was compelled to resign her position owing to ill health and that there was just one teacher required to fill all positions. Mr. Nickle moved that the names of teachers handed in by the superintendent be nominated and assigned to their various positions. This motion prevailed.

Mr. McClain called attention to the fact that the teachers must all read the Bible, and Mr. Sanor said that if a teacher was disloyal to the orders of the board she could not expect to be retained. The superintendent also stated that there were two applicants whose names were not on the list handed in, and that he would recommend that they be engaged. On motion it was decided to employ one of the teachers, and the other vacancy was of fered Miss Andrews, of Sewickley, at a salary of $45 a month. If she would not accept, the superintendent was to notify the other applicant that she would be engaged. The wage question of teachers was mentioned, but not discussed at any length. The board then voted to pay the two election clerks $2 a day, and adjourned.

Superintendent Sanor will leave for his summer vacation tomorrow. He will spend a few days in Homeworth, and thence go to the meeting of the state superintendents, who will hold this year's session at Put-In-Bay. From that place he will go to Buffalo, N. Y., to attend the annual meeting of the national body of school superintendents.

Don't Like Our "Mac."

George P. Rust, of Cleveland, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the bridge. The gentleman, accompanied by his brother, has just returned from Paris, France, the latter person crossing the water to have a delicate surgical operation performed on him. Mr. Rust says that the sentiment against McKinley in Great Britain and France is very pronounced.

D. J. Wallace and son, accompanied by Robert Hill, left for Bradford, Pa., on the noon train today, to erect three brick kilns at that place.

HE ROBBED HIS SISTER

An Ungrateful Brother Skips With Money.

OFFICERS INSTITUTING A SEARCH

All Efforts to Locate the Absconding Brother Have Been Futile—Thought to be in Beaver—Second Time That Mrs. Voegtle Has Been Robbed.

The police are looking for Edward Weisenberger, a German employe of the ice plant, who last Sunday skipped the city, taking with him a large sum of money belonging to his sister, Mrs. Voegtle, who keeps a restaurant on Walnut street. Weisenberger formerly lived in Beaver, and came to this place about seven months since, and during that time has made his home with his sister.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Voegtle went upstairs and remained there some time. Returning to the kitchen, she had occasion to get some change from her pocket book that had been left in a cupboard. When the pocket book was opened it was found that a snug sum of money—something over $50—was missing. Mrs. Voegtle at once suspected that her brother had taken the money, and going in search, succeeded in finding him in the parlor of a saloon.

She demanded that her money be returned, and he replied by telling her to go home and that he would soon follow and bring back the amount. The lady complied and waited in vain for the brother to materialize. Failing to do so, she notified Marshal Johnson, and he and the other officers at once instituted a search for the absconder. So far all efforts to locate him have been futile, and it is thought that the fugitive is in Beaver.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Voegtle was robbed of $65 in cash, and jewelry amounting in value to $75, several months since, by a German who stopped at her house for a few days.

THE RECEPTION.

A Slight Change Made in the Program For Tonight.

At the reception to be tendered Doctor Lee tonight, the program has underwent a slight change. The opening selection will be given by the chorus, instead of choir, with E. K. Macrum as accompanist. Mrs. J. C. Thompson will follow the recitation by Miss Ella Huston with a beautiful vocal solo. With these two exceptions, the program will be carried out in the order published in the NEWS REVIEW of yesterday. The reception will be the finest ever given in the city, and those who fail to attend are missing the treat of a life time. It is free to Presbyterians and their friends.

CAME AND DEPARTED.

A Band of Gypsies Struck the City Yesterday Morning.

A band of strolling Gypsies struck the city yesterday morning and pitched their tents in East End. The lessee of the land appeared and ordered the trespassers to leave, but they declined to do so, and emphasized their refusal with harsh words and abuse. To obtain redress the latter notified Constable Bertele, who hid himself to the spot, but upon arriving found that the wanderers had departed and sought other quarters. When last seen the Gypsies were wending their way toward Wellsville.

WITH THE STREET FORCE

Mullen and MacKilhaney Will Work Out Their Fines.

Thomas Jackson appeared at the city hall this morning and was fined $6.60 for his complicity in the Broadway joint that was raided Saturday night. He paid his fine. MacKilhaney and Mullen are working out their fines on the street. After Haughton was found guilty and fined $7 by Mayor Gilbert yesterday Delaney concluded to plead guilty and was fined $6.60. Both fines were paid.

Burned His Pocket.

Ferd Oeschmann had a pocketful of matches which in some way became ignited. The young man didn't discover that he was a fire for some little time, but when he did, he made a bee line for a hydrant, and turned the water into his pocket. The fire burned a large hole in the lining of his trousers.

Satisfactorily Adjusted.

The insurance on A. W. King's stock was adjusted satisfactorily to all parties concerned this morning, and this afternoon the work of cleaning up the place was started.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In retiring from business in East Liverpool, in so far as my partnership in the NEWS REVIEW is concerned, I hereby extend thanks to one and all who have so kindly given the paper their patronage and support. The only reason for my severance of partnership is continued ill health. Manager Harry Palmer and myself have been associated with each other in newspaper enterprise for the past five years, and our relations, public and private, have been of the most cordial nature. I earnestly desire that all my friends shall extend to him, as the present owner of the NEWS REVIEW plant, the same generous backing as they gave us as partners. I shall not quit the field of journalism, but shall, as soon as practicable, again resume duty in the editorial chair of the NEWS REVIEW.

AT WASHINGTON CITY.

The present administration at Washington is very friendly and loving to foreign nations; so much so that said nations are given contracts in preference to placing them with home manufacturers, keeping the wheels of industry bustling on foreign shores, while the home wheels are quiet and dead and the workmen pleading for occupation, by and through which to obtain the necessities of life. Truly the voters of Uncle Samuel's domain are long suffering and patient. They have borne with Democratic foolishness and its free trade fallacy for a long time. But the day of reckoning is at hand. McKinley, the apostle of protection and sound money, will soon control the ship of state, and home manufacturers and workmen will have the warm preference over all foreign competition. Speed the day.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

"Honest money!" is the cry at St. Louis, and the indications are that the platform of the Republican party will speak on the subject in no uncertain tones. Those who desire the unlimited coinage of silver will not do battle in Republican ranks in the next presidential issue. The lawmakers within the party will not promise the workingmen and mechanics of the nation that silver shall be grown upon the trees, bushes and shrubbery surrounding their homes, to be had for the plucking. The Republican platform will tell the masses that they must indulge in honest toil, in order to secure the money the party advocates; but it further promises that they shall have, God willing, the opportunity of employment, at remunerative wages, giving the home workmen and workshops the preference over all foreign competition; and, further, the absolute guarantee that Uncle Sam's money will be good the world over, and a dollar bearing his stamp shall be worth 100 cents at the "butcher's, baker's and candlestick maker's;" that the smallest purse shall be large enough to contain sufficient money to purchase and pay for a bushel basket of provision. The unlimited coinage of silver means the exact opposite—poor credit, hard times, low wages, lack of employment, and a bushel of money for a handful of provisions. Take your choice.

ROUGHS AND TOUGHS.

Roughs and gamblers, and law-breakers generally, desire to be let alone, as Jeff Davis did when he was guilty of treason and when he did his utmost to break up the best government on the face of this earth. The law declares that gambling places shall not exist within the limits of the city, and the man or body of men who break this law, and who are caught red-handed, should possess sufficient nerve and manhood to take their punishment quietly, and not whine and kick like little children. One of this number, who was lately caught by the officers of the law, and whose arrest and incarceration was duly noted in the daily papers, has since been uttering dire threat against the reporters, and promises, as per his elegant and refined language, to "wipe up the earth" with them. The reporters of the NEWS REVIEW are always and ever instructed to be very careful in giving police items, and to be sure that they get them straight from the docket. If injustice is at any time done any one in these columns, then ample apology will gladly be made. But when roughs and blackguards are caught in illegal practices, and then, because publicity is given to the affair through these columns, threaten to do the newsgatherers bodily harm, the cowards reckon without their host, and will be called to account in a manner which they will remember for all time to come. The reporters of this paper have instructions to avoid a street brawl, under all circumstances, even avoiding, if possible, the use of words when assailed with choice billingsgate by roughs and toughs. But they will take care of themselves if assailed bodily, and the management will back them to the fullest degree from a legal standpoint.

HER INNOCENT QUERY.

The Inquisitive Neighbor at Last Gets In Her Work as Usual.

Before Ira LaMotte wore diamonds and wrote "manager" after his name incidents occurred that are more amusing in being related over cold bottles than they were in transpiring. One little story he tells himself that runs in this way:
 When Ira became a Benedict, he was less prosperous than hopeful. His visible possessions consisted of a trunk, a safe and a useful, but solitary to a profound degree when considered as the extent of his property. But Ira knew a thing or two, even though he had to resort to strategy to accomplish his purpose. He rented a flat, a swell flat, with all the accessories of high price, and he and Mrs. LaMotte and the trunk took possession. They did it in an unostentatious way, and the neighbors were none the wiser. It was all right of course from one way of looking at it, but neighbors can hardly be expected to always look that one way; so the new tenants kept on being unostentatious and exclusive. The trunk was most useful. It did duty for chairs at dinner time, for piano at singing time, for divan at billing time, and for nearly everything else. It was all a bit irregular of course, but the best was made of it, and Ira and Mrs. LaMotte were as free from care as from the troubles of wealth.

One morning, however, Mrs. LaMotte went out. She only went to the corner, but the wide awake wife of the landlord—the landlord lived in a flat just below Ira's—found the opportunity she had impatiently been waiting for. She bided her time until Mrs. LaMotte was on the outer steps. Then, with bonnet and cape, she started out. Of course the ladies met, and of course they had to chat a little.

"How do you like the flat, Mrs. LaMotte?" asked the wide awake other.
 "Very much, thank you," icily returned Mrs. LaMotte, for she knew she was caught and considered all sorts of sharp things to say in reply.

"And, Mrs. LaMotte"—it came hesitatingly, but it came—"when are you going to move in?"

The simplicity of it took her breath away, and she could only retreat in dignified silence.—Chicago Dispatch.

A Massachusetts Decision.

The decision of the Massachusetts supreme court that women cannot be made notaries public by the legislature, because they are not expressly named as eligible by the constitution, is illogical and unjust. But it is law so long as a majority of the judges maintain their present opinion. Fortunately judges, like other men, are mortal and will give place sooner or later to more enlightened successors.—Woman's Journal.

A Friendly Comment.

Gladys—I cannot understand why all men seem to take so much to Cora.
 Phyllis—It's simply a case of Mary's little lamb.

Gladys—How do you mean?
 Phyllis—Well, when the children asked, "What makes the lamb love Mary so?" they were told, "Why, Mary loves the lamb, you know." That's the principle on which the men like Cora.—New York Journal.

A Hair of the Dog.

"The hair of the dog will cure the bite" is a popular statement of the fundamental principle of homeopathy, similia similibus curantur. In the middle ages a common superstition prevailed that when a man was bitten by any animal certain hairs from the creature doing the mischief were necessary in the incantations and charms practiced in order to work a cure.

REPUBLICANS MEET.

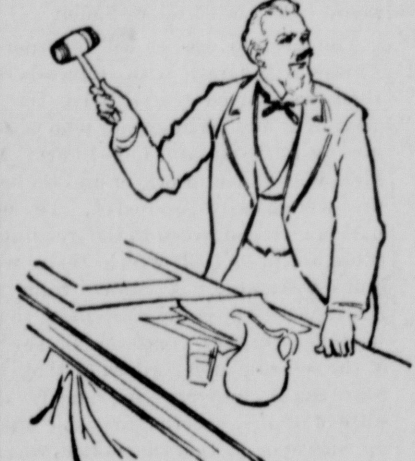

The Convention In Session at St. Louis Today.

FAIRBANKS TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN

The Triumph of McKinley Now Conceded to Be Complete—The Warm Fight Over the Money Plank—The Vice Presidential Aspirants.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—National Chairman Carter called the Republican national convention to order at 12 o'clock today.

Hon. C. W. Fairbanks was made temporary chairman and immediately proceeded to the delivery of his speech. Great enthusiasm prevails.
 The most remarkable feature about the convention so far has been the absence of bad blood among the partisans of the various candidates. The triumph of McKinley has been so complete thus far that his friends can afford to be magnanimous and his opponents can do nothing but acquiesce in the ascertained will of the majority. The partisans of Reed, Quay, Morton and Allison still wear their buttons and are as staunch as ever in their loyalty, but they realize the helplessness of making shrieking or offensive demonstrations in favor of their champion and the managers of the anti-McKinley candidates have practically sheathed their swords. This does not mean that they have abandoned the field, with the exception of Governor Bradley of Kentucky, who dropped out last night. The names of the other candidates will be presented and voted for and will probably tell their full strength. Indeed the Reed men have labored assiduously to rally their followers to the last man. They have appealed to his friends to go down with colors flying. So, too, with the followers of Morton, Allison and Quay. But no one ventures to suggest the possibility of McKinley's defeat.

The real struggle that is going on is over the financial plank in the platform. Around it all interest centers. Beyond the disputes in the various delegations over the supremacy of men and factions is almost the sole subject of plots and counterplots. It is the real battleground. In phrase and word it is all important. Upon tariff, upon all other questions there is a substantial unity, but the differences upon it are as wide as the sentiment. Free silver and gold are irreconcilable, and the radical silver men are prepared to stake their all upon the issue. Knowing they cannot succeed they are even now formulating the manifest by which they will sever their allegiance to the Republican party. But these radical silver men are largely outnumbered. Headed by Senator Teller of Colorado they have only mustered five states and perhaps one territory, less than 50 delegates in all, out of a total of over 900. The real struggle is between those in favor of a gold declaration, for the maintenance of an international agreement, and those whose friendliness to silver, although opposed to free coinage, makes them seek to avoid a specific endorsement of the gold standard. The result of the meeting of the various state delegations demonstrated emphatically that the convention will not dodge the issue, nor equivocate in language. Twenty-eight states, comprising the territory east of the Mississippi and almost the entire south, elected members of the resolutions committee and instructed them to vote for a gold declaration.

Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon and Washington also took strong ground for gold. In Indiana General Lew Wallace was chosen a member of the resolutions committee after he had declared that he would not stand on the Indiana plank and that the utterances for the maintenance of the gold standard could not be made too strong for him. Minnesota with her 18 votes instructed ex-Governor Merriam to insist upon a declaration of the gold standard. Michigan and several of the northwestern states, notably Iowa and the Dakotas and several of the southern states, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana announced their opposition to free coinage, but did not favor a too radical declaration in favor of the gold standard. Iowa was particularly solicitous and feared that it might carry the northwest into the Democratic camp in case the Chicago convention pronounced later for silver. The eastern delegates are overjoyed at the outcome and believe that the result of the actions of state caucuses removes the last uncertainty as to the character of the financial plank. The exact language of the plank has not yet been drawn. Mark Hanna, to whom all eyes are turned, and to whom all agreed belongs the distinction of being the dominating power in the convention, has had many planks presented to him, but all mean practically the same thing, the maintenance of the gold standard until an international agreement can be reached and unalterable opposition to free coinage.

Coupled with these declarations will be undoubtedly a declaration in favor of such use of silver as the needs of commerce demand, but not beyond the point where the maintenance of the party would be endangered. Senator-elect Furness of Ohio, who is to be chairman of the committee on resolutions, has prepared a rough draft of a platform covering most of the subjects to be presented and this will furnish the basis for the work of constructing the platform.

There was a very lively scene in Mr. Hanna's room when Henry Cabot Lodge of Boston called upon him to discuss the financial plank to be put into the platform. Mr. Lodge, in his forceful way, announced his purpose to have a gold plank or to overthrow Mr. Hanna's plans. It was not the desire of Mr. Lodge to have a gold plank which angered Mr. Hanna, but the manner in which it was presented, and he proceeded to notify Mr. Lodge in no uncertain way that he could not be forced, and that he could not talk with Mr. Lodge on the subject.

"If you own this convention, Mr. Lodge," he said, "go on and run it in your own way. I shall not talk with you." And Mr. Lodge left the room.

The selection by the various state delegations of their membership on the committees was not marked by sensational incidents, save in New York and Missouri.

The situation as to the vice presidency continues indefinite. Opinion does not seem to crystallize. The talk of Hobart of New Jersey, Lippett of Rhode Island, and Evans of Tennessee goes on, but does not seem to be regarded seriously. There was a strong belief early in the day that perhaps the New York delegation could agree on some one who would be satisfactory to both factions, and there was a renewed discussion of Governor Morton and ex-Secretary of the Navy Tracy, but when the factions declared war to the hilt all idea of New York furnishing the tail of the ticket was abandoned. Although the Maine delegation is not advertising the fact it is almost certain that they will present the name of ex-Governor Cleaves. Representative Dingley of Maine, who was spoken of, does not covet the honor. There is still a lingering hope among a vast number of the delegates that Speaker Reed will be nominated by a spontaneous outburst in the convention, and if he is, they do not believe that he could decline any more than Logan could in 1884, or Hendricks and Thurman could when they were placed on the Democratic tickets in 1884 and 1888 respectively.

Last night the streets were brilliantly illuminated and a monster McKinley demonstration was made.

SILVER MEN DIVIDED.

A Difference of Opinion as to Whether a Bolt Is Advisable.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The delegates from the silver states have again postponed their meeting and it is now uncertain whether a joint conference of the delegates from the different states will be held until after the committee on resolutions acts upon the platform.

The change of plan is due to the fact that some difference of opinion has been developed in some of the states as to the most advisable course to be pursued. In some instances there is a division as to the wisdom of a bolt whatever the platform may be. This fact was brought out at the meetings held in the different state delegations. It is believed that it may yet be possible to secure an understanding upon which the delegates may act together though it is conceded that this is not altogether probable.

The division exists in the Montana and Utah delegations. The Montana delegation is evenly divided, with Senator Mantle heading the wing favorable to walking out of the convention, and Senator Carter heading the forces opposed to this action, there being three delegates on each side.

This subject formed the basis of quite a stormy scene at an informal meeting of the delegation. Senator Carter advanced the idea that the silver men could be just as effective by uttering a strong protest against the adoption of a gold plank and still remaining in the convention, while Senator Mantle contended that the only course left to the silver men was to leave the convention in case it should decide upon a course so antagonistic to their belief as would be the adoption of a gold standard declaration. Both senators are, however, anxious to preserve harmony in the party in their state, and both will hesitate before separating upon this issue.

In Utah there is a majority favorable to a bolt. Senator Brown, who did not stand with the other senators from the silver-producing states on their antagonism to the Dingley tariff bill, will not bolt. One other member of the delegation may stand with him, but the other delegates will walk out of the convention in case of the adoption of a declaration for gold monometallism. The Colorado and Idaho delegates are solid for a bolt.

MONEY PLANK DECIDED ON.

The One of the Middle West Is Finally Adopted.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The money plank endorsed by Senator Allison and the states of the middle west has been accepted as satisfactory by the east and will be adopted by the convention. It says:

"We favor gold, silver and paper as the money of the United States, all to be kept in a parity of value, and the enactment of necessary laws to accomplish the purpose; we also favor the use of silver as international money, either through international agreement to secure a common ratio with free coinage at such ratio by the agreement of nations, or by concurrent legislation of a league of nations to accomplish the same purpose.

"That pending such an arrangement which should be prompted by the power of the United States it is unwise and inexpedient for the United States alone to adopt a free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and therefore we oppose such free coinage of silver."

MCKINLEY MASSMEETING.

Governor Bushnell Presided and Prominent Men Made Speeches.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—A monster McKinley massmeeting was held last night in Music hall. Introduced by Mark Hanna, Governor Bushnell of Ohio presided over the meeting. On taking the chair, the governor said William McKinley was the choice not only of Ohio, but of the nation, and the audience rose and howled its acquiescence.

He was followed by ex-Congressman William E. Mason of Chicago, Congressman Grosvenor, P. D. Woodmansee and others.

A reference by Governor Bushnell to H. Clay Evans as a vice presidential candidate was received with applause.

FREAK FRUIT TREES.

Plums and Cherries Growing on the Same Limb at Mechanicsburg.

MECHANICSBURG, O., June 16.—A freak of nature that is exciting considerable curiosity, as well as interest among fruitgrowers here, is a plum tree belonging to Gilbert Farrington, that is bearing both plums and cherries on the same limb.

The tree, which is of the Lombard variety, was planted when quite small by Mr. Farrington, who asserts that it has never been budded, nor grafted, and has borne several crops of fine plums. The phenomenon is supposed to have been caused by the pollen from the blossoms of a cherry tree growing near the plum tree. Another curiosity is an apple tree of a summer variety, owned by Mrs. Robert Jones, that is bearing both fruit and a second crop of blossoms, some of the apples being half grown.

A Tramp's Many Souvenirs.

MADISON, O., June 16.—George Holden, who started nine years ago on a tramping tour around the world, and has covered 65,000 miles in ten years, arrived in this city after traveling 63,782 miles. He has accumulated numerous relics from all parts of the world, among which are 4,000 barroom checks, 100 police buttons, saws used by jail-breakers, spikes from train wrecks, a piece of the rope used in hanging Guiteau and many other trinkets picked up on his way, besides 1,000 letters from different persons along the route.

Half the Amount Raised.

HAMILTON, O., June 16.—The committee having in charge the matter of raising $50,000 by subscription for the purpose of securing the removal of the Marvin-Hall-Herring safe company to this city had up to Saturday night succeeded in raising about $25,000 of the fixed amount. The committee will devote this week to raising the remaining $25,000, with every prospect of success.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In retiring from business in East Liverpool, in so far as my partnership in the NEWS REVIEW is concerned, I hereby extend thanks to one and all who have so kindly given the paper their patronage and support. The only reason for my severance of partnership is continued ill health. Manager Harry Palmer and myself have been associated with each other in newspaper enterprise for the past five years, and our relations, public and private, have been of the most cordial nature. I earnestly desire that all my friends shall extend to him, as the present owner of the NEWS REVIEW plant, the same generous backing as they gave us as partners. I shall not quit the field of journalism, but shall, as soon as practicable, again resume duty in the editorial chair of the NEWS REVIEW.

AT WASHINGTON CITY.

The present administration at Washington is very friendly and loving to foreign nations; so much so that said nations are given contracts in preference to placing them with home manufacturers, keeping the wheels of industry bustling on foreign shores, while the home wheels are quiet and dead and the workmen pleading for occupation, by and through which to obtain the necessities of life. Truly the voters of Uncle Samuel's domain are long suffering and patient. They have borne with Democratic foolishness and its free trade fallacy for a long time. But the day of reckoning is at hand. McKinley, the apostle of protection and sound money, will soon control the ship of state, and home manufacturers and workmen will have the warm preference over all foreign competition. Speed the day.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

"Honest money!" is the cry at St. Louis, and the indications are that the platform of the Republican party will speak on the subject in no uncertain tones. Those who desire the unlimited coinage of silver will not do battle in Republican ranks in the next presidential issue. The lawmakers within the party will not promise the workingmen and mechanics of the nation that silver shall be grown upon the trees, bushes and shrubbery surrounding their homes, to be had for the plucking. The Republican platform will tell the masses that they must indulge in honest toil, in order to secure the money the party advocates; but it further promises that they shall have, God willing, the opportunity of employment, at remunerative wages, giving the home workmen and workshops the preference over all foreign competition; and, further, the absolute guarantee that Uncle Sam's money will be good the world over, and a dollar bearing his stamp shall be worth 100 cents at the "butcher's, baker's and candlestick maker's;" that the smallest purse shall be large enough to contain sufficient money to purchase and pay for a bushel basket of provision. The unlimited coinage of silver means the exact opposite—poor credit, hard times, low wages, lack of employment, and a bushel of money for a handful of provisions. Take your choice.

ROUGHS AND TOUGHS.

Roughs and gamblers, and law breakers generally, desire to be let alone, as Jeff Davis did when he was guilty of treason and when he did his utmost to break up the best government on the face of this earth. The law declares that gambling places shall not exist within the limits of the city, and the man or body of men who break this law, and who are caught red-handed, should possess sufficient nerve and manhood to take their punishment quietly, and not whine and kick like little children. One of this number, who was lately caught by the officers of the law, and whose arrest and incarceration was duly noted in the daily papers, has since been uttering dire threat against the reporters, and promises, as per his elegant and refined language, to "wipe up the earth" with them. The reporters of the NEWS REVIEW are always and ever instructed to be very careful in giving police items, and to be sure that they get them straight from the docket. If injustice is at any time done any one in these columns, then ample apology will gladly be made. But when roughs and blackguards are caught in illegal practices, and then, because publicity is given to the affair through these columns, threaten to do the newsgatherers bodily harm, the cowards reckon without their host, and will be called to account in a manner which they will remember for all time to come. The reporters of this paper have instructions to avoid a street brawl, under all circumstances, even avoiding, if possible, the use of words when assailed with choice billingsgate by roughs and toughs. But they will take care of themselves if assailed bodily, and the management will back them to the fullest degree from a legal standpoint.

HER INNOCENT QUERY.

The Inquisitive Neighbor at Last Gets In Her Work as Usual.
Before Ira LaMotte wore diamonds and wrote "manager" after his name incidents occurred that are more amusing in being related over cold bottles than they were in transpiring. One little story he tells himself that runs in this way:

When Ira became a Benedict, he was less prosperous than hopeful. His visible possessions consisted of a trunk, a huge affair and useful, but solitary to a profound degree when considered as the extent of his property. But Ira knew a thing or two, even though he had to resort to strategy to accomplish his purpose. He rented a flat, a swell flat, with all the accessories of high price, and he and Mrs. LaMotte and the trunk took possession. They did it in an unostentatious way, and the neighbors were none the wiser. It was all right of course from one way of looking at it, but neighbors can hardly be expected to always look that one way; so the new tenants kept on being unostentatious and exclusive. The trunk was most useful. It did duty for chairs at dinner time, for piano at singing time, for divan at billing time, and for nearly everything else. It was all a bit irregular of course, but the best was made of it, and Ira and Mrs. LaMotte were as free from care as from the troubles of wealth.

One morning, however, Mrs. LaMotte went out. She only went to the corner, but the wide awake wife of the landlord—the landlord lived in a flat just below Ira's—found the opportunity she had impatiently been waiting for. She bided her time until Mrs. LaMotte was on the outer steps. Then, with bonnet and cape, she started out. Of course the ladies met, and of course they had to chat a little.

"How do you like the flat, Mrs. LaMotte?" asked the wide awake other.

"Very much, thank you," icily returned Mrs. LaMotte, for she knew she was caught and considered all sorts of sharp things to say in reply.

"And, Mrs. LaMotte"—it came hesitatingly, but it came—"when are you going to move in?"

The simplicity of it took her breath away, and she could only retreat in dignified silence.—Chicago Dispatch.

A Massachusetts Decision.

The decision of the Massachusetts supreme court that women cannot be made notaries public by the legislature, because they are not expressly named as eligible by the constitution, is illogical and unjust. But it is law so long as a majority of the judges maintain their present opinion. Fortunately judges, like other men, are mortal and will give place sooner or later to more enlightened successors.—Woman's Journal.

A Friendly Comment.

Gladys—I cannot understand why all men seem to take so much to Cora.
Phyllis—It's simply a case of Mary's little lamb.

Gladys—How do you mean?
Phyllis—Well, when the children asked, "What makes the lamb love Mary so?" they were told, "Why, Mary loves the lamb, you know." That's the principle on which the men like Cora.—New York Journal.

A Hair of the Dog.

"The hair of the dog will cure the bite" is a popular statement of the fundamental principle of homeopathy, similia similibus curantur. In the middle ages a common superstition prevailed that when a man was bitten by any animal certain hairs from the creature doing the mischief were necessary in the incantations and charms practiced in order to work a cure.

REPUBLICANS MEET.

The Convention In Session at St. Louis Today.

FAIRBANKS TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN

The Triumph of McKinley Now Conceded to Be Complete—The Warm Fight Over the Money Plank—The Vice Presidential Aspirants.

St. LOUIS, June 16.—National Chairman Carter called the Republican national convention to order at 12 o'clock today.

Hon. C. W. Fairbanks was made temporary chairman and immediately proceeded to the delivery of his speech. Great enthusiasm prevails. The most remarkable feature about the convention so far has been the absence of bad blood among the partisans of the various candidates. The triumph of McKinley has been so complete thus far that his friends can afford to be magnanimous and his opponents can do nothing but acquiesce in the ascertained will of the majority. The partisans of Reed, Quay, Morton and Allison still wear their buttons and are as staunch as ever in their loyalty, but they realize the helplessness of making shrieking or offensive demonstrations in favor of their champion and the managers of the anti-McKinley candidates have practically sheathed their swords. This does not mean that they have abandoned the field, with the exception of Governor Bradley of Kentucky, who dropped out last night. The names of the other candidates will be presented and voted for and will probably poll their full strength. Indeed the Reed men have labored assiduously to rally their followers to the last man. They have appealed to his friends to go down with colors flying. So, too, with the followers of Morton, Allison and Quay. But no one ventures to suggest the possibility of McKinley's defeat.

The real struggle that is going on is over the financial plank in the platform. Around it all interest centers. Beyond the disputes in the various delegations over the supremacy of men and factions it is almost the sole subject of plots and counterplots. It is the real battleground. In phrase and word it is all important. Upon tariff, upon all other questions there is a substantial unity, but the differences upon it are as wide as the sentiment. Free silver and gold are irreconcilable, and the radical silver men are prepared to stake their all upon the issue. Knowing they cannot succeed they are even now formulating the manifest by which they will sever their allegiance to the Republican party. But these radical silver men are largely outnumbered. Headed by Senator Teller of Colorado they have only mustered five states and perhaps one territory, less than 50 delegates in all, out of a total of over 900. The real struggle is between those in favor of a gold declaration, for the maintenance of a gold standard, except through an international agreement, and those whose friendliness to silver, although opposed to free coinage, makes them seek to avoid a specific endorsement of the gold standard. The result of the meeting of the various state delegations demonstrated emphatically that the convention will not dodge the issue, nor equivocate in language. Twenty-eight states, comprising the territory east of the Mississippi and almost the entire south, elected members of the resolutions committee and instructed them to vote for a gold declaration.

Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon and Washington also took strong ground for gold. In Indiana General Lew Wallace was chosen a member of the resolutions committee after he had declared that he would not stand on the Indiana plank and that the utterances for the maintenance of the gold standard could not be made too strong for him. Minnesota with her 18 votes instructed ex-Governor Merriam to insist upon a declaration of the gold standard. Michigan and several of the northwestern states, notably Iowa and the Dakotas and several of the southern states, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana announced their opposition to free coinage, but did not favor a too radical declaration in favor of the gold standard. Iowa was particularly solicitous and feared that it might carry the northwest into the Democratic camp in case the Chicago convention pronounced later for silver. The eastern delegates are overjoyed at the outcome and believe that the result of the actions of state caucuses removes the last uncertainty as to the character of the financial plank. The exact language of the plank has not yet been drawn. Mark Hanna, to whom all eyes are turned, and to whom all agreed belongs the distinction of being the dominating power in the convention, has had many planks presented to him, but all mean practically the same thing, the maintenance of the gold standard until an international agreement can be reached and unalterable opposition to free coinage.

Coupled with these declarations will be undoubtedly a declaration in favor of such use of silver as the needs of commerce demand, but not beyond the point where the maintenance of the party would be endangered. Senator Foraker of Ohio, who is to be chairman of the committee on resolutions, has prepared a rough draft of a platform covering most of the subjects to be presented and this will furnish the basis for the work of constructing the platform.

There was a very lively scene in Mr. Hanna's room when Henry Cabot Lodge of Boston called upon him to discuss the financial plank to be put into the platform. Mr. Lodge, in his forceful way, announced his purpose to have a gold plank or to overthrow Mr. Hanna's plans. It was not the desire of Mr. Lodge to have a gold plank which angered Mr. Hanna, but the manner in which it was presented, and he proceeded to notify Mr. Lodge in no uncertain way that he could not be forced, and that he could not talk with Mr. Lodge on the subject.

"If you own this convention, Mr. Lodge," he said, "go on and run it in your own way. I shall not talk with you." And Mr. Lodge left the room.

The selection by the various state delegations of their membership on the committees was not marked by sensational incidents, save in New York and Missouri.

The situation as to the vice-presidency continues indefinite. Opinion does not seem to crystallize. The talk of Hobart of New Jersey, Lippett of Rhode Island, and Evans of Tennessee goes on, but does not seem to be regarded seriously. There was a strong belief early in the day that perhaps the New York delegation could agree on some one who would be satisfactory to both factions, and there was a renewed discussion of Governor Morton and ex-Secretary of the Navy Tracy, but when the factions declared war to the hilt all idea of New York furnishing the tail of the ticket was abandoned. Although the Maine delegation is not advertising the fact it is almost certain that they will present the name of ex-Governor Cleaves. Representative Dingley of Maine, who was spoken of, does not covet the honor. There is still a lingering hope among a vast number of the delegates that Speaker Reed will be nominated by a spontaneous outburst in the convention, and if he is, they do not believe that he could decline any more than Logan could in 1884, or Hendricks and Thurman could when they were placed on the Democratic tickets in 1884 and 1888 respectively.

Last night the streets were brilliantly illuminated and a monster McKinley demonstration was made.

SILVER MEN DIVIDED.

A Difference of Opinion as to Whether a Bolt Is Advisable.

St. LOUIS, June 16.—The delegates from the silver states have again postponed their meeting and it is now uncertain whether a joint conference of the delegates from the different states will be held until after the committee on resolutions acts upon the platform. The change of plan is due to the fact that some difference of opinion has been developed in some of the states as to the most advisable course to be pursued. In some instances there is a division as to the wisdom of a bolt whatever the platform may be. This fact was brought out at the meetings held in the different state delegations. It is believed that it may yet be possible to secure an understanding upon which the delegates may act together though it is conceded that this is not altogether probable.

The division exists in the Montana and Utah delegations. The Montana delegation is evenly divided, with Senator Mantle heading the wing favorable to walking out of the convention, and Senator Carter heading the forces opposed to this action, there being three delegates on each side.

This subject formed the basis of quite a stormy scene at an informal meeting of the delegation. Senator Carter advanced the idea that the silver men could be just as effective by uttering a strong protest against the adoption of a gold plank and still remaining in the convention, while Senator Mantle contended that the only course left to the silver men was to leave the convention in case it should decide upon a course so antagonistic to their belief as would be the adoption of a gold standard declaration. Both senators are, however, anxious to preserve harmony in the party in their state, and both will hesitate before separating upon this issue.

In Utah there is a majority favorable to a bolt. Senator Brown, who did not stand with the other senators from the silver-producing states on their antagonism to the Dingley tariff bill, will not bolt. One other member of the delegation may stand with him, but the other delegates will walk out of the convention in case of the adoption of a declaration for gold monometallism. The Colorado and Idaho delegates are solid for a bolt.

MONEY PLANK DECIDED ON.

The One of the Middle West Is Finally Adopted.

St. LOUIS, June 16.—The money plank endorsed by Senator Allison and the states of the middle west has been accepted as satisfactory by the east and will be adopted by the convention. It says:

"We favor gold, silver and paper as the money of the United States, all to be kept in a parity of value, and the enactment of necessary laws to accomplish the purpose; we also favor the use of silver as international money, either through international agreement to secure a common ratio with free coinage at such ratio by the agreement of nations, or by concurrent legislation of a league of nations to accomplish the same purpose.

"That pending such an arrangement which should be prompted by the power of the United States it is unwise and inexpedient for the United States alone to adopt a free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and therefore we oppose such free coinage of silver."

MCKINLEY MASSMEETING.

Governor Bushnell Presided and Prominent Men Made Speeches.

St. LOUIS, June 16.—A monster McKinley massmeeting was held last night in Music hall. Introduced by Mark Hanna, Governor Bushnell of Ohio presided over the meeting. On taking the chair, the governor said William McKinley was the choice not only of Ohio, but of the nation, and the audience rose and howled its acquiescence. He was followed by ex-Congressman William E. Mason of Chicago, Congressman Grosvenor, P. D. Woodmansee and others.

FREAK FRUIT TREES.

Plums and Cherries Growing on the Same Limb at Mechanicsburg.

MECHANICSBURG, O., June 16.—A freak of nature that is exciting considerable curiosity, as well as interest among fruitgrowers here, is a plum tree belonging to Gilbert Farrington, that is bearing both plums and cherries on the same limb.

The tree, which is of the Lombard variety, was planted when quite small by Mr. Farrington, who asserts that it has never been budded, nor grafted, and has borne several crops of fine plums. The phenomenon is supposed to have been caused by the pollen from the blossoms of a cherry tree growing near the plum tree. Another curiosity is an apple tree of a summer variety, owned by Mrs. Robert Jones, that is bearing both fruit and a second crop of blossoms, some of the apples being half grown.

A Tramp's Many Souvenirs.

MADISON, O., June 16.—George Holden, who started nine years ago on a tramp, has covered 65,000 miles in ten years, arrived in this city after traveling 63,782 miles. He has accumulated numerous relics from all parts of the world, among which are 4,000 barroom checks, 100 police buttons, saws used by jailbreakers, spikes from train wrecks, a piece of the rope used in hanging Guitau and many other trinkets picked up on his way, besides 1,000 letters from different persons along the route.

Half the Amount Raised.

HAMILTON, O., June 16.—The committee having in charge the matter of raising $50,000 by subscription for the purpose of securing the removal of the Marvin-Hall-Herring safe company to this city had up to Saturday night succeeded in raising about $25,000 of the fixed amount. The committee will devote this week to raising the remaining $25,000, with every prospect of success.

MILLER BADLY SCORED.

Fell Into a Trap Prepared by Tom Platt.

A HIGHLY DRAMATIC SCENE.

Depew Refused to Help Miller in the Caucus—Tom Platt Attacked the Senator Savagely—Platt Pledged to McKinley if Nominated.

St. Louis, June 16.—The gossip of the corridors is the dramatic and exciting meeting in the New York state delegation, the result of which succinctly stated is the throwing down of the gauntlet by the anti-organization Republicans who are numbered among the friends of William McKinley. The result has proved interesting because in the bitterness of the battle that has been going on in that state delegation it was apprehended that perhaps if Mr. McKinley was the choice of the convention he would suffer at the polls. But while the dramatic scenes are discussed with interest the McKinley people point to the open pledges made by Mr. Platt's adherents in the caucus that Mr. McKinley or any other Republican will receive the vote of New York. As a result of the meeting it is found that 17 of the 70 delegates will cast their votes not for the New York state convention choice, but for William McKinley.

This leaves just 55 votes for Mr. Morgan and it is believed that this will be his entire strength in the convention, but the main topic of conversation is the breach that undoubtedly exists between the three well known leaders, Chauncey M. Depew, Thomas C. Platt and Warner Miller. To the observant looker-on it was apparent that Mr. Platt had laid a trap for Miller, into which he was tumbled by his own friends, who sought to pit him against Mr. Platt.

Senator Miller, the head of the anti-Platt faction, threw down the gauntlet of defiance to the New York leader. He made a ringing speech, in which he spurned the leadership of a man who had declared that McKinley was unfit for the presidency, and moved to depose him by making Chauncey M. Depew chairman of the delegation.

The preliminary sparring over, Mr. Depew stated that he had misunderstood Mr. Miller's request about the chairmanship and declined to be a candidate. The suddenness of this gave Mr. Miller's adherents such a shock that they at once fell into the trap laid for them. Miller politely intimated to Depew that he was a liar.

Without a candidate they naturally thought of Miller, and before the latter perceiving the trap or could stop it General McCook had proposed his name. The Platt men were so jubilant that they laughed aloud. It was Miller against Platt.

Stepping out of the circle, tall, gaunt, Thorow Weed Barnes turned and faced Miller who had given Depew the lie about his acceptance of the office of chairman. Towering over the man like an avenging angel, he gave him a lashing of bitter words that made even the Platt adherents who surrounded the delegates look on with amazement.

"Sneak, coward, crawler, traitor, jayhawker and backslider," were a few of the expressions used, and Miller sank back in the seat, his face white with anger, his lips were sealed.

Following Barnes came Senator Raines, and he was even more bitterly personal in his remarks. "Destroyer of trust, liar, kicker and serpent in the camp" were some of Raines' expressions, and he would stride across the floor and put his finger almost on Miller's nose. Mr. Miller made no answer to the attack, and the vote elected Mr. Platt by a tally of 53 to 17. Morton was endorsed for president.

After the meeting Miller said he did not care for the attacks and failed to see how Depew misunderstood him.

Mr. Depew reiterated his statement that he had entirely misunderstood Mr. Miller's proposition.

In some quarters it is said that the Platt contingent have agreed to support Mr. Depew for vice president in the convention. A rumor is also current that the New York delegation may present the name of Frederick D. Grant of New York for that office.

ONE DELEGATE DREW A KNIFE.

An Exciting Scene Occurs in the Missouri Caucus.

St. Louis, June 16.—In the Missouri delegation Chauncey I. Filley, who for many years had been the Missouri representative on the national committee, was defeated in his ambition to again be a national committeeman and Richard Kerns was selected. This is the outcome of a long struggle for supremacy.

Mayor P. D. Hastain of Sedalia drew a knife on Delegate Berry in the secret session, but was seized and prevented from making a personal attack. The Kerns faction had been outvoting the Filley people on several issues raised. After a test vote on a proposition to postpone the selection of a national committeeman until the contest from Missouri had been passed upon, Hastain made a strong remark regarding Missouri's "old man."

Berry was on his feet instantly and made a sharp personal attack on Hastain. The latter, pale as death at the words flung at him by Berry, drew from his pocket a knife which warned the other committeemen that it was time for them to act. They pushed in between the angry factionists, separated them and the fight was over for the present.

NO MORE MCKINLEY LAW.

Foraker Says the Platform Will Declare Solely For Protection.

St. Louis, June 16.—Senator-elect Foraker, who will be chairman of the committee on resolutions, says that the tariff plank will be a distinct declaration in favor of protection, but that the McKinley law will not be re-enacted. Conditions have changed, he said, and tariff laws must change with them.

Sensors Quay, Lodge, John S. Wise and others have been conferring with Senator Foraker, urging him to insist on the committee having gold put in the platform.

WILL PRESENT QUAY'S NAME.

Pennsylvania Delegation Also Put Him On the National Committee.

St. Louis, June 16.—Pennsylvania will present the name of M. S. Quay to the convention, and of the 64 votes of the Keystone state 58 will be for Quay and six for McKinley. The McKinley men counted four votes as sure before the caucus convened and they count the result as a gain for them, although the caucus went from first to last as the Quay men dictated.

The program was written out before the caucus met, and, with the exception of two unimportant items, the proceedings were in exact accordance with the typewritten plans of proceedings. The committee appointments were as follows:

National committee, M. S. Quay; chairman of delegation, Governor D. H. Hastings; rules, H. H. Bingham; credentials, W. H. Andrews; permanent organization, Charles H. Mullin; resolutions, Smiley Darlington.

The caucus affirmed the monetary standard adopted by the state convention in favor of a gold standard.

The only fight was that made against Quay by the McKinley men, the vote on all other points being unanimous. There was no opposition whatever to the selection of Quay, as a member of the national committee.

THE OHIO DELEGATION.

Selection of Officers Made—Kurtz For National Chairman.

St. Louis, June 16.—The Ohio delegation organized in a few minutes without a dissenting vote on the selection of Kurtz for national chairman. All the selections were by acclamation, and the selections of Foraker for the chairman on resolutions and Marcus A. Hanna as a member of the committee to notify the candidate of his nomination were received with cheers. On motion of Senator-elect Foraker the chairman of the delegation was directed to cast the 46 votes of Ohio for William McKinley.

The selections were: Chairman, Asa S. Bushnell; member of the national committee, C. L. Kurtz, Columbus; member of committee on resolutions, J. B. Foraker, (gold); member of committee on credentials, A. C. Thompson, Portsmouth; member of committee on permanent organization, C. H. Grosvenor, Athens; vice president of the convention, left to committee on permanent organization; member of committee on rules and order of business, Geo. W. Wilson, London; notification committee, Marcus A. Hanna, Cleveland.

WEST VIRGINIA DELEGATION.

A Hot Fight Made on N. B. Scott For National Committeeman.

St. Louis, June 16.—The West Virginia delegates met and made the following appointments:

Member of committee on resolutions, F. M. Reynolds, who favors the insertion of the word "gold" in the party platform; committee on credentials, O. V. Hardman; permanent organization, Henry Schmullbach; basis of representation, C. F. Rathbone; rules and order of business, J. L. Hurst; chairman of delegation, A. B. White.

The selection of a national committeeman developed a lively fight. Strong opposition was shown to the re-election of N. B. Scott, the present member of the committee and the opponents of Mr. Scott, who desired a re-election, selected W. S. Edwards as their candidate for the position. The fight at one time approached the point of bitterness and heated arguments were indulged in for some time after the conclusion of the caucus. It was finally decided to hold the election for the committeeman today.

MARYLAND DELEGATION.

A Call Made on Tom Platt—The Officers Selected.

St. Louis, June 16.—The Maryland delegation met in a body and went to the Southern hotel and called on Thomas C. Platt. The New York leader was assured that Maryland was solid for a single gold standard declaration in the platform. The delegation met and elected the following officers:

Chairman, Sydney E. Mudd; member national committee, George L. Wellington; member committee on resolutions, James A. Gary; member committee on permanent organization, not filled; vice president of the convention, William T. Malster; member committee on rules and order of business, William D. Straughn; committee on notification of the candidate for president, William F. Aicoy.

REED STILL HAS HOPES.

He Says He Has Received Encouraging Reports From St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Speaker Reed received some very encouraging reports from St. Louis. The exact nature of the information and the source from which it came he discreetly kept to himself. He was, therefore, not disposed to discuss the possibility of his accepting second place on the ticket.

"You may state," said Mr. Reed, "that I have received a number of telegrams from St. Louis indicating that there is considerable trouble ahead for the McKinley people. There is serious danger of a disagreement among them over the financial question, and there may be some sensational developments before the thing is over."

No Change in Representation.

St. Louis, June 16.—The national committee, by a vote of 31 to 4, decided that it was inexpedient for the committee to make any recommendation to the national convention regarding a change of the basis of representation. The four negative votes were cast by Wilson (Del.), Scott (W. Va.), Payne (Wis.) and Hatch (Ala.).

CARLISLE EXAMINED.

Questioned by Senate Bond Issue Investigators.

SENATOR VEST MADE THE QUERIES.

The Secretary Said That the Great Emergency Caused the First Deal With the Morgan Syndicate—Why He Did Not Pay in Silver.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Secretary Carlisle has been examined under oath by the senate committee appointed to investigate recent bond issues. The hearing was held in the rooms of the senate committee on finance, Senators Harris, Vest, Walthall, Jones (Nev.) and Platt being present.

Mr. Vest began the examination, asking for a fuller explanation of the first bond contract with the Morgan syndicate than had been given in Mr. Carlisle's written statement. His main purpose, Secretary Carlisle said, was to prevent the shipments of gold from this country. Mr. Vest asked who made the first suggestion as to the protective clause in the bond contract with the Morgan syndicate.

The secretary answered that the first draft was made in his private office and then taken to an adjoining room and shown to Mr. Morgan and Mr. Francis Lynde Stetson, after which some changes were made. This was the Mr. Stetson, the secretary explained in response to inquiries, who had been the law partner of the president. Mr. Vest asked why the contract had been given to the syndicate, to which Mr. Carlisle replied with a lengthy explanation of the great emergency existing which would not permit a delay for the usual formalities of a bond sale.

Mr. Vest's question turned to the amount of the bond sale—$4,500,000 of bonds—being given to the Morgan syndicate. The senator asked why, after the Graves bid was rejected, the government did not receive the benefit of the rise which had occurred in the price of the bonds, instead of the benefit going to the Morgan syndicate under their "blanket bid."

Mr. Carlisle said this was a matter of opinion and in his judgment the Graves bid was a nullity, after which the Morgan bid, which was the next highest, took the bonds. His action, he said, was taken after consulting the law officers of the government. He would have taken the same course if the price of the bonds had fallen.

The secretary declared that his course throughout all the bond issues proceeded without reference to what the syndicate desired or would do. He and the president were in perfect accord throughout all the transactions.

One of Mr. Vest's questions referred to the time of the president's information as compared with that of Mr. Belmont, to which the secretary said that the president's message giving information to congress as to the close of the bond transaction was sent at noon, while Mr. Belmont did not reach Washington until 2 p. m.

To Mr. Vest's question as to why a public bond sale was resorted to at a later date when the early sale by private contract Mr. Carlisle said the first move was due entirely to the exigencies existing.

The fact was, he said, that the treasury had reached the point where there were gold certificates outstanding for which it had no gold to meet them. He had never stated this fact before.

"I suppose you never contemplated paying in silver," inquired Mr. Vest. The secretary replied that the present policy of paying in gold had been followed so long that he did not consider it expedient to depart from it at a time of emergency.

MILLER BADLY SCORED.

Fell Into a Trap Prepared by Tom Platt.

A HIGHLY DRAMATIC SCENE.

Depew Refused to Help Miller in the caucus—Tom Platt Attacked the Senator Savagely—Platt Pledged to McKinley If Nominated.

St. Louis, June 16.—The gossip of the corridors is the dramatic and exciting meeting in the New York state delegation, the result of which succinctly stated is the throwing down of the gauntlet by the anti-organization Republicans who are numbered among the friends of William McKinley. The result has proved interesting because in the bitterness of the battle that has been going on in that state delegation it was apprehended that perhaps if Mr. McKinley was the choice of the convention he would suffer at the polls. But while the dramatic scenes are discussed with interest the McKinley people point to the open pledges made by Mr. Platt's adherents in the caucus that Mr. McKinley or any other Republican will receive the vote of New York. As a result of the meeting it is found that 17 of the 70 delegates will cast their votes not for the New York state convention choice, but for William McKinley.

This leaves just 55 votes for Mr. Morton and it is believed that this will be his entire strength in the convention, but the main topic of conversation is the breach that undoubtedly exists between the three well known leaders, Chauncey M. Depew, Thomas C. Platt and Warner Miller. To the observant looker-on it was apparent that Mr. Platt had laid a trap for Miller, into which he was tumbled by his own friends, who sought to pit him against Mr. Platt.

Ex-Senator Miller, the head of the anti-Platt faction, threw down the gauntlet of defiance to the New York leader. He made a ringing speech, in which he spurned the leadership of a man who had declared that McKinley was unfit for the presidency, and moved to depose him by making Chauncey M. Depew chairman of the delegation.

The preliminary sparring over, Mr. Depew stated that he had misunderstood Mr. Miller's request about the chairmanship and declined to be a candidate. The suddenness of this gave Mr. Miller's adherents such a shock that they at once fell into the trap laid for them. Miller politely intimated to Depew that he was a liar.

Without a candidate they naturally thought of Miller, and before the latter perceiving the trap or could stop it General McCook had proposed his name. The Platt men were so jubilant that they laughed aloud. It was Miller against Platt.

Stepping out of the circle, tall, gaunt, Thurlow Weed Barnes turned and faced Miller who had given Depew the lie about his acceptance of the office of chairman. Towering over the man like an avenging angel, he gave him a lashing of bitter words that made even the Platt adherents who surrounded the delegates look on with amazement.

"Snak, coward, crawler, traitor, jayhawker and backslider," were a few of the expressions used, and Miller sank back in the seat, his face white with anger, but his lips were sealed.

Following Barnes came Senator Raines, and he was even more bitterly personal in his remarks. "Destroyer of trust, liar, kicker and serpent in the camp" were some of Raines' expressions, and he would stride across the floor and put his finger almost on Miller's nose. Mr. Miller made no answer to the attack, and the vote elected Mr. Platt by a tally of 63 to 17. Morton was endorsed for president. After the meeting Miller said he did not care for the attacks and failed to see how Depew misunderstood him.

Mr. Depew reiterated his statement that he had entirely misunderstood Mr. Miller's position.

In some quarters it is said that the Platt contingent have agreed to support Mr. Depew for vice president in the convention. A rumor is also current that the New York delegation may present the name of Frederick D. Grant of New York for that office.

St. Louis, June 16.—The West Virginia delegates met and made the following appointments:

Member of committee on resolutions, F. M. Reynolds, who favors the insertion of the word "gold" in the party platform; committee on credentials, O. W. Hardman; permanent organization, Henry Schunbach; basis of representation, C. F. Rathbone; rules and order of business, J. L. Hurst; chairman of delegation, A. B. White.

The selection of a national committeeman developed a lively fight. Strong opposition was shown to the re-election of N. B. Scott, the present member of the committee and the opponents of Mr. Scott, who desired a re-election, selected W. S. Edwards as their candidate for the position. The fight at one time approached the point of bitterness and heated arguments were indulged in for some time after the conclusion of the caucus. It was finally decided to hold the election for the committeeman today.

MARYLAND DELEGATION.

A Call Made on Tom Platt—The Officers Selected.

St. Louis, June 16.—The Maryland delegation met in a body and went to the Southern hotel and called on Thomas C. Platt. The New York leader was assured that Maryland was solid for a single gold standard declaration in the platform. The delegation met and elected the following officers:

Chairman Sydney E. Mudd; member national committee, George L. Wellington; member committee on resolutions, James A. Gary; member committee on credentials, Robert P. Graham; member committee on permanent organization, not filled; vice president of the convention, William T. Malster; member committee on rules and order of business, William D. Straughn; committee on notification of the candidate for president, William F. Aicey.

REED STILL HAS HOPES.

He Says He Has Received Encouraging Reports From St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Speaker Reed received some very encouraging reports from St. Louis. The exact nature of the information and the source from which it came he discreetly kept to himself. He was, however, not disposed to discuss the possibility of his accepting second place on the ticket.

"You may state," said Mr. Reed, "that I have received a number of telegrams from St. Louis indicating that there is considerable trouble ahead for the McKinley people. There is serious danger of a disagreement among them over the financial question, and there may be some sensational developments before the thing is over."

No Change In Representation.

St. Louis, June 16.—The national committee, by a vote of 31 to 4, decided that it was inexpedient for the committee to make any recommendation to the national convention regarding a change of the basis of representation. The four negative votes were cast by Wilson (Del.), Scott (W. Va.), Payne (Wis.) and Hatch (Ala.).

The President Gone Fishing.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The president, accompanied by Internal Revenue Commissioner Miller, has gone on a fishing trip to Leesburg, Va., where he again will be the guest of Mr. Harrison, who has a fine trout preserve just outside the village.

CARLISLE EXAMINED.

Questioned by Senate Bond Issue Investigators.

SENATOR VEST MADE THE QUERIES.

The Secretary Said That the Great Emergency Caused the First Deal With the Morgan Syndicate—Why He Did Not Pay In Silver.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Secretary Carlisle has been examined under oath by the senate committee appointed to investigate recent bond issues. The hearing was held in the rooms of the senate committee on finance, Senators Harris, Vest, Walthall, Jones (Nev.) and Platt being present.

Mr. Vest began the examination, asking for a fuller explanation of the first bond contract with the Morgan syndicate than had been given in Mr. Carlisle's written statement. His main purpose, Secretary Carlisle said, was to prevent the shipments of gold from this country. Mr. Vest asked who made the first suggestion as to the protective clause in the bond contract with the Morgan syndicate.

The secretary answered that the first draft was made in his private office and then taken to an adjoining room and shown to Mr. Morgan and Mr. Francis Lynde Stetson, after which some changes were made. This was the Stetson, the secretary explained in response to inquiries, who had been the law partner of the president. Mr. Vest asked why the contract had been given to the syndicate, to which Mr. Carlisle replied with a lengthy explanation of the great emergency existing which would not permit a delay for the usual formalities of a bond sale.

Mr. Vest's question turned to the amount of the bond sale—$4,500,000 of bonds—being given to the Morgan syndicate. The senator asked why, after the bond sale was rejected, the government did not receive the benefit of the rise which had occurred in the price of the bonds, instead of the benefit going to the Morgan syndicate under their "blanket bid."

Mr. Carlisle said this was a matter of opinion and in his judgment the Morgan bid was a nullity, after which the Morgan bid, which was the next highest, took the bonds. His action, he said, was taken after consulting the law officers of the government. He would have taken the same course if the price of the bonds had fallen.

The secretary declared that his course throughout all the bond issues proceeded without reference to what the syndicate desired or would do. He and the president were in perfect accord throughout all the transactions.

One of Mr. Vest's questions referred to the time of the president's information as compared with that of Mr. Belmont, to which the secretary said that the president's message giving information to congress as to the close of the bond transaction was sent at noon, while Mr. Belmont did not reach Washington until 2 p. m.

To Mr. Vest's question as to why a public bond sale was resorted to at a later date when the early sale was by private contract Mr. Carlisle said the first move was due entirely to the exigencies existing. The fact was, he said, that the treasury had reached the point where there were gold certificates outstanding for which it had no gold to meet them. He had never stated this fact before.

"I suppose you never contemplated paying in silver," inquired Mr. Vest. The secretary replied that the present policy of paying in gold had been followed so long that he did not consider it expedient to depart from it at a time of emergency.

Coal, Coal.

There is full truth in the old saying that "one man's loss is another man's gain." A barge of Pittsburgh coal was consigned to East Liverpool; accident ensued and the coal went down beneath the waters, resting there in the barge some seven or eight hours, and was again brought to the surface, uninjured, save in appearance. Will now be sold at one cent per bushel lower than market rates. Coal is now ready for inspection. It is a bargain. Call, at once, at MOORE'S COAL YARD, Foot of Broadway.

Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes, August 10, 1891: "Foley's Kidney cure is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I had suffered 27 years with the disease, and today I feel 10 years younger than I did one year ago. I can obtain some wonderful certificates of its medical qualities."

NOT GUILTY.

Ferdinand Oeschmann Denies the Cracker Story.

Mr. Ferd. Oeschmann asserts that practical jokers put up a job upon him, as exemplified in the account given in the NEWS REVIEW of yesterday, respecting the jolly brewer's narrow escape from death by choking, his tumble upon the floor and final rescue from a visit to the great beyond. Ferd. says he did have a slight impediment in his throat, on account of being a little careless with an overgrown cracker, but that it caused him but momentary uneasiness and trouble; that there was no falling upon the floor on his part and no dark shadow of death anigh his rotund form. He further states that our informants of yesterday are wrestlers with the truth, and that they must have been thrown with awful force. He further intimates, in the language of the immortal Shakespeare, that he "scorns the allegations made in these columns yesterday, and can and will lick the allegator when the opportunity affords." A COLLISION

Between a Buggy and a Cart This Morning.

This morning as two men were driving up the Calcutta road in a buggy a couple of ladies in a dog cart attempted to pass them near the Grant street school house. The wheels of the two rigs came together with the result that about a half a dozen spokes were taken out of the cart while the buggy escaped injury. The men drove on without ascertaining the amount of damage that had been done, and the ladies walked into the city, leading their horse, where the cart was repaired.

It is hard to tell sometimes whether the shopper or the saleswoman feels the effect of shopping the most. Even the pleasant part of it involves standing, waiting, weariness for both of them and more or less hurry and neglect of regular meals and regular habits. This leads to dyspepsia or constipation or both; they are two links in the chain of indigestion; another link is biliousness; headache is another; then follows backache, drowsiness, dizziness, an irritable temper and the "blues," all links of one chain binding down your energies and making life a burden. The way to throw off the whole trouble at once is to put the bowels and stomach into condition again. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do this quicker, more comfortably and more naturally than any other remedy in the world. They actually cure constipation so it stays cured; you don't become a slave to their use; they strengthen the intestines to do their own work, tone the stomach and gently stimulate the liver. They are mild but sure, like Nature it is. Don't let any druggist give you a griping pill. Insist on having Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

A JUVENILE BASEBALL GAME

The Crackjacks Will Play at Toronto on the Fourth, While the Store Clerks Want to Play Their Employers—Mercer Won Another Game Yesterday.

The Rovers association football team will in all probability open their season at Niles in September. East Liverpool people will have one of the best association football clubs in the country this fall.

The Campground Footstones were defeated by the Wellsville Hobos yesterday by a score of 17 to 5. Batteries—Allison and Heckathorne; Patterson and Hamilton. The boys received the usual treatment accorded baseball teams that visit Wellsville, and say that the next game will have to be played somewhere else, as they don't like the idea of playing nine men and an umpire, besides having the small boys throw sticks at them.

The Crackjacks will play two games at Toronto on July 4.

The store clerks are of the opinion that they can defeat their employers in a game of ball and would like to meet them at any time or place; the game to be played after 6 o'clock in the evening. The challenge was brought about by some of the employers telling the boys how they used to play the game when they were young.

Winnie Mercer won another game of ball yesterday, Washington defeating Philadelphia by a score of 6 to 3. Philadelphia only secured seven hits off his delivery and were shut out in every inning but the first. Mercer had one hit, one putout, three assists, while he struck out three men and gave one base on balls.

The clerks will play the Wellsville clerks at West End park on Thursday afternoon.

The engineer of the bridge company is at present engaged in surveying the land across the river which will be used as a ball park. As soon as he settles the best possible location for the park, work will be commenced at once fixing it up. The engineer has almost completed his labors and it is expected that getting the grounds in shape will start by the first of July. The park will be incorporated although as yet nothing has been done toward that end.

SENT TO LIVERPOOL.

A New Scheme to Dispose of Wellsville Garbage.

It was amusing to watch the street cars coming from Wellsville last night, as almost every car had rubbish of some kind dragging behind. The small boy of that place has evidently found that the commissioner's force is inadequate to keep the streets free from rubbish, and willing to lend a helping hand, have resorted to a novel scheme to dispose of the same. Liverpool has been very generous to Wellsville, and makes daily donations of all kinds of garbage, which is received by the water works and deposited in the reservoir.

The commission appointed in the partition case of Margaret J. Clyde against Mary E. Campbell and others this morning returned their report to the court, appraising lot 16 in Henry Aten's addition to Wellville at $3,233.34. The court issued an order of sale to Sheriff Gill who will make the sale on the premises on July 21.

The case of Frank Osborne against William Kirk and others, after pending in court for 10 years, was this morning handed over to Referee P. M. Coal, Coal.
There is full truth in the old saying that "one man's loss is another man's gain." A barge of Pittsburgh coal was consigned to East Liverpool; accident ensued and the coal went down beneath the waters, resting there in the barge some seven or eight hours, and was again brought to the surface, uninjured, save in appearance. Will now be sold at one cent per bushel lower than market rates. Coal is now ready for inspection. It is a bargain. Call, at once, at MOORE'S COAL YARD, Foot of Broadway.

Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes, August 10, 1891: "Foley's Kidney cure is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health, and Foley's Kidney cure has made it such. I had suffered 27 years with the disease, and today I feel 10 years younger than I did one year ago. I can obtain some wonderful certificates of its medical qualities."

NOT GUILTY.

Ferdinand Oeschmann Denies the Cracker Story.

Mr. Ferd. Oeschmann asserts that practical jokers put up a job upon him, as exemplified in the account given in the NEWS REVIEW of yesterday, respecting the jolly brewer's narrow escape from death by choking, his tumble upon the floor and final rescue from a visit to the great beyond. Ferd. says he did have a slight impediment in his throat, on account of being a little careless with an overgrown cracker, but that it caused him but momentary uneasiness and trouble; that there was no falling upon the floor on his part and no dark shadow of death anigh his rotund form. He further states that our informants of yesterday are wrestlers with the truth, and that they must have been thrown with awful force. He further intimates, in the language of the immortal Shakespeare, that he "seems the allegations made in these columns yesterday, and can and will lick the allegator when the opportunity affords." A COLLISION

Between a Buggy and a Cart This Morning.

This morning as two men were driving up the Calcutta road in a buggy a couple of ladies in a dog cart attempted to pass them near the Grant street school house. The wheels of the two rigs came together with the result that about a half a dozen spokes were taken out of the cart while the buggy escaped injury. The men drove on without ascertaining the amount of damage that had been done, and the ladies walked into the city, leading their horse, where the cart was repaired.

Owing to the rain this afternoon the baseball game to have been played at the West End grounds was postponed. Another date for a game will be arranged. It is hard to tell sometimes whether the shopper or the saleswoman feels the effect of shopping the most. Even the pleasant part of it involves standing, waiting, weariness for both of them and more or less hurry and neglect of regular meals and regular habits. This leads to dyspepsia or constipation or both; they are two links in the chain of indigestion; another link is biliousness; headache is another; then follows backache, drowsiness, dizziness, an irritable temper and the "blues," all links of one chain binding down your energies and making life a burden. The way to throw off the whole trouble at once is to put the bowels and stomach into condition again. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do this quicker, more comfortably and more naturally than any other remedy in the world. They actually cure constipation so it stays cured; you don't become a slave to their use; they strengthen the intestines to do their own work, tone the stomach and gently stimulate the liver. They are mild but sure, like Nature itself. Don't let any druggist give you a gripping pill. Insist on having Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.
